

DENIM TO LACE

A rough~and~tumble tomboy
with sneakers on her feet, She'll go toe~to~toe with any Joe
she meets along the street.

Her prowess on the playground
has created no small stir,
In fact the star player of the game was not a him – but her!

She hits and throws and, the story goes,
her fast ball can't be seen,
But beneath the grit and all the grime
can be found a little queen.

The tomboy goes when she changes her clothes
and lays her leather aside,
When the sneakers come off and the slippers
go on,
with laces carefully tied.

Then the pitcher does a pirouette
that's like a curve ball she has thrown us,
And with dancing shoes and graceful moves,
a much softer side is shown us.

❖ About the Artist ❖

Greg Olsen

Greg was born in Idaho Falls, Idaho and grew up in the nearby farming community of Iona. He is the oldest of five children. Greg was blessed with very supportive parents who always encouraged him and provided opportunities for him to pursue his passion of art. Greg remembers a time as a teenager when he had been hired to paint a large sign for a local grocery store. It was wintertime and too cold to paint in the garage so his parents let him set up a workshop in his bedroom. He promptly spilled two quarts of black and orange enamel paint all over his bedroom carpet. Amazingly, his parents still encouraged him in his artistic endeavors.

After high school Greg attended Utah State University where he studied art. While attending school he met his wife, Sydnie Cazier. They have six children and are enjoying their new role as grandparents. Greg likes being close to his family. He paints in his studio, 37 steps from the back door of their home. Greg says, "From an early age I have always been fascinated by paintings that create mood, emotion and atmosphere; especially those paintings that lift me and transport me to some far off place. These are the elements I strive to create in my paintings. My paintings in many ways record what is most important to me: my feelings and experiences with family and friends along with the spiritual aspects of my life. My hope is that in these images you will find something familiar, something which will resonate and remind you of what is important in your own life."
